McCOOK, Neb., June 3.—

The grim specters of hunger, disease and thirst roved over this stricken territory today in the wake of the worst flood in Nebraska's history.

As the raging torrents subsided and the wind died down, survivors and rescue workers tabulated the casualties as follows:

Dead—105.

Missing—210.

Injured—500.

Homeless—6,000.

Marooned—1,000.

DENVER, Colo., June 3.—New disaster stalked the tornado and flood plagued southwest today where 88 persons were known to have perished in six states that counted property loss at 16 million dollars.

A tornado battered the York region near Omaha while the South Platte river went tumbling over its banks to flood Ogallala, Neb., to a depth of seven feet. The Nehama river overflowed at Falls City to cover thousands of acres of rich farmland.

Rescue Work Continues.
Rescue workers continued to bring out the injured and the bodies of those drowned in the southwestern Nebraska flood area.

While the known death toll had reached 88, relief agencies reported scores missing.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Weeds are shooting up rapidly, and the week cutting campaign will have to get under way at once.

Pa. News would like to see a number of dilapidated houses and barns which are located along important highways in Lawrence County, removed. The latest to be added to the list would be that on the New Wilmington road via Highland avenue, about three miles from the city line. It would help a lot if that building, which sits right on the edge of the road was removed.

Lawrence County seems to be getting the painting up fever. May the epidemic continue. Many houses are being improved at the present time by a coat of fresh paint, and it certainly helps appearances of the properties.

New concrete signs posts are being erected at city street corners to hold the "stop" signs. Most of the signs need a little touching up to make them fit in with the improvement.

That Harlansburg road paving on the Harlansburg end, between New Castle and the village, is certainly in line for some attention. The work done on that paving contract was a poor job, one would be convinced by a look at the surface at the present time.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 3.—Again lashing out at "political bureaucracy" and "exponents of a new social order," former President Herbert Hoover today scored the trend of government under the national administration's new deal.

Without mentioning specific New Deal agencies by name, he criticized major policies of President Roosevelt before residents of the state which gave Roosevelt a 180,000 majority in 1932.

He spoke as a native son talking to the "sons and daughters of Iowa" when he told Drake University graduates in a formal commencement address that he was "troubled about just one thing,"

"That is what the forces of government may impose on you that will limit or destroy your inspirations, your incentives, and your opportunities. Will government permit you to breathe the pure air of liberty in the spirit of the bill of rights?"

Of the agricultural adjustment administration Hoover warned the commencement day audience:

"You should be suspicious of any proposal that asks you to forego the rightful exercise of your muscles and your mind, of any government action which limits your opportunities to work and produce."

The school term will officially close Tuesday night when commencement will be held and 361 seniors given their diplomas.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Like the dream of an ancient mariner, the liner Normandie came up over the eastern horizon today and swept into New York harbor to apparently shatter all existing trans-Atlantic speed records for ships.

Her great prow cleaving a path of white in the Blue Sea, she passed Ambrose lightship, the official finishing line for time in trans-Atlantic crossing, at 11:03 a. m. E. D. T.

Makes New Record

Unofficial figures for the elapsed time of the 3,192 mile voyage from Bishop's Rock, off Southampton, to Ambrose lightship, were four days, 11 hours and 42 minutes.

Unofficial figures estimated here average speed at between 29 and 30 knots, pending announcement of official figures.

The previous North Atlantic speed record was established by the Europa which went 3,149 miles in four days, 16 hours and 48 minutes at an average speed of 27.92 knots.

Fastest of all former trans-Atlantic crossings was the made by the Italian liner Rex. However, the Rex spanned 3,181 miles at an average of 28.92 knots.

Thunderous Welcome
A thunderous welcome awaited the new queen of the seas as she cut her way through a myriad of craft in the world's greatest port.

Hundreds of thousands of eager spectators lined the banks of the Hudson awaiting the liner's arrival at its new port. She was not expected to dock until around 3 p. m.

The mighty vessel came loaded with superlatives—the largest, most beautiful and probably the fastest liner ever to sail the ocean.

The victims' clothing had been ripped from their backs. There was no sign of a struggle where the bodies were found.

DR. G. S. BENNETT

Preaching at the Cathedral before the June graduating class of Senior high school and an audience of parents, relatives and friends estimated at 2,500, Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, instilled in the hearts of the 361 seniors—and their friends—hope that fears of today will vanish before the living faith he urged all to have.

"The Conquest of Fear" was Dr. Bennett's baccalaureate subject, a highly appropriate one for a graduation service which finds, as the minister told the class, more fears and more challenges for graduating seniors than in years gone by.

Rev. Schnebly Assists
The Rev. D. C. Schnebly, able pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, assisted Dr. Bennett in the service.

Rev. Schnebly served as chairman for the program, gave the invocation and benediction and read scripture and offered a special prayer "for guidance for these graduates."

The Senior high school orchestra played under the direction of Prof. Joseph F. Replogle.

To the procession march, "Hail, America," the huge class of seniors, attired in commencement cap and gown, filed into the auditorium last night with Principal Frank L. Orth, and James Dart, senior president, in the lead.

The congregation then sang "America the Beautiful" and after the song Rev. Schnebly offered the invocation.

Choir Sings Numbers
The first of two beautiful vocal numbers which the vested choir of the First Christian church sang were heard at the close of the invocation, and later, just before the sermon, another was sung.

"Thus Saith the Lord of Hosts" was the choir's first offering while its second was "Onward Christian Soldiers."

With Mary Virginia Patterson as piano accompanist, the choir was composed of Thelma Schenck, soprano; Rebecca J. Garvin, contralto; Samuel Lewis, tenor; and James A. Bowman, bass.

Rev. Schnebly read the scripture and gave a prayer after the first number, following which Senior high school boys, serving as ushers, lifted an offering which will go to meet the Cathedral expenses for this June's graduation.

Suggestion Of Modifying
Constitution Lacks SupportBy WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Roosevelt's veiled suggestion of an amendment to the constitution giving congress absolute legislative control over national social and economic problems, appeared doomed today by a lack of support on Capitol Hill.

While administration leaders bemoaned the supreme court's repudiation of the new deal policies, only a few spokesmen urged immediate steps to modify the constitution, so congress can give the federal government power to regulate all industry and all social problems. The vast majority of leaders, in and out of the president's own party, either opposed the idea or declared it hopeless of achievement.

To amend the constitution, the president first must secure the consent of two-thirds of both house and senate to submit the question to the people.

Ten more names were added today to Pennsylvania's highway death toll as a summer motor travel neared its customary flow. Scores were injured, many seriously, in collisions scattered throughout the state.

Struck as she dashed across a street, Dolores Izbic, eight, died in McKeesport hospital a short time later. J. J. Brown, driver of the car that hit the girl, was released on his own recognizance pending an inquest.

Joseph Gritzer, 25, died in a Pittsburgh hospital from burns received when a cigarette ignited a reserve can of gasoline in a truck in which he was riding. Steve Petro, 20, is confined to a hospital with serious burns about the body.

In a score of other crashes throughout western Pennsylvania many persons were taken to hospitals.

Seven Killed In Philadelphia
Six men and a six-year-old boy were killed and more than a score of other persons were injured in automobile accidents in Philadelphia and on eastern Pennsylvania highways over the week-end.

In the most serious crash, William E. Cochran, 60, a painting contractor and former trapshooting champion, and William Kavanaugh, 60, a construction engineer, both of Kennett Square, died instantly when their automobile crashed head-on into a heavy milk truck near Kennett Square.

TACOMA, Wash., June 3.—G-men concentrated the man-hunt today for the kidnapers of George Weyerhaeuser in the Pacific northwest not far from the scene of the abduction and the spot where the $200,000 ransom was paid for the boy's release.

A new blockade on all roads between Tacoma and Portland, Ore., was established this morning as law enforcement authorities worked vigorously on a "tip" that members of the "Egoist" kidnap gang were attempting a flight south.

Tight-lipped Department of Justice agents refused to give any information regarding the arrest of Volney Davis, Karpis mobster, in Chicago, and the secret flight of Chicago G-men with their prisoner to St. Paul, Minn.

Davis had been definitely identified by several persons as the man who, with an unidentified woman, inspected an apartment here recently near the Weyerhaeuser home.

Other persons also declared they had seen Davis on a Tacoma-Seattle bus.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The supreme court today closed one of the most momentous terms in its history. As the court moved to dispose of miscellaneous business, the country was reverberating with President Roosevelt's analysis of its decision of last Monday scrapping the NRA.

With the close of today's session, the court will leave the capitol in which it has been quartered for 134 years, and move into a new $10,000,000 temple of justice provided by congress.

The big question upmost in the minds of the new dealers as the court prepared to adjourn until October 7, was whether its complexion will be changed when it reconvenes.

Despite frequent rumors of pending resignations, there was no official indication that any of the nine judges will step permanently from their black robes.

A fresh wave of legal attacks upon new deal legislation, with the Bankhead cotton act and the AAA processing tax among the first, are slated next fall.

Five of the justices are beyond the voluntary retirement stage. Congress, however, has refused to encourage their retirement by passing the Summers bill which would prevent reduction in retirement pay, a privilege granted judges of all lower federal courts.

Sentence of the gangster was deferred until next Friday or Saturday, Judge Joyce announced.

Davis is the eighth member of the gang to face a long prison term in connection with the Bremer snatching, which occurred in January, 1934. The dapper machine-gunning ex-convict is believed to have participated in the actual kidnaping of the banker.

youngest son as he preached to the seniors last night for Lawrence Bennett is a member of the class.

After the sermon the congregation rose again and sang "God Of Our Fathers" and then the benediction was pronounced.

The audience seated itself to permit the seniors to march out from their reserved section on the main floor to the strains of the recessional, "March All Turca."

The baccalaureate program of last night was the first to be held in the Cathedral in several years, although commencements have been held there regularly.

Summary Of Sermon

Dr. Bennett, in his inspiring sermon to the baccalaureate audience, said in part:

"In the eighth chapter of Matthew, twenty-sixth verse, are the words, 'And He saith unto them, why are ye fearful, O ye of little faith?' These words are taken from the incident of Jesus stilling the tempest. He was with His disciples in a boat on the Sea of Galilee. While Jesus slept a severe storm arose and apparently threatened to destroy the boat. The Apostles, becoming very much alarmed, awakened Jesus with the question, 'Master, carest thou not that we perish?' It was then as Jesus stilled the tempest that He said to His alarmed companions, 'Why are ye so fearful, O ye of little faith?' Thus in these words Jesus recognizes the fact that fear is due to a lack of faith.

"There is doubt about the influence of fear in the history of mankind. In every age since the dawn of history the spectre of fear has tormented the souls of men and has resulted in many tragedies. Men have feared the unusual and mysterious things that come into their experience such as severe storms, earthquakes and other like calamities. National and international crises have also brought their share of fear. Then, too, into our own personal experiences of sorrow, illness, disappointment and loss there has frequently come this experience of fear to take possession of our souls. According to some recent statistics this past year saw about the largest number of suicides in the history of the country and there is no question about the fact that many of these tragedies were caused through this fear to face the future.

Recites Fears Of Today

"Among the fears most common today are: First, the fear for the destiny of the nation. This fear has been caused by the terrible economic condition through which we are passing. The uncertainty of our political situation and the apparent lack of any great individual to lead us out of the chaos of today have also had their share in creating a spirit of pessimism throughout the country. Then, too, the recent decision of the supreme court concerning the unconstitutionality of the NRA has only added to the confusion of the day.

"Another fear that is being expressed today is the fear for the destiny of the church. There is no question about the fact but the religion is passing through one of the greatest crises in its history. The economic strain is being felt just as severely here as in other places. Then, too, there never has been a period in the history of Christianity when there were so many things to distract people from the church as there are today. We have become so possessed with worry over material things that the spiritual side of our life is being rather severely neglected. No doubt these same fears for the destiny of the nation have also taken possession of many of the followers of Jesus and have resulted in this same experience of pessimism for the future of the church.

"Among the worst fears of today, however, are those concerning our own future. There is no doubt but that almost every one of us has in some way felt the effects of this present crisis. Business failures and various other financial losses have brought very severe disappointments to many of us. Unemployment and its consequent distresses have also brought to a large number, a fear for their own future. To many of us, personal sorrow caused by the loss of some of our loved ones, without whose companionship and counsel we feel almost afraid to live on in this world. So wherever we may turn we find that experience of fear seems to have possessed the human heart. If Jesus were here today He probably would say to us as He said to His little group of friends in the Gospels, 'Why are ye so fearful, O ye of little faith?'

Faith Is Our Weapon

"One of the most important questions that concerns us today is as to whether or not there is any hope to which we may cling. Can we overcome fear? We can. According to the words of Jesus that we have quoted in our text faith is the greatest weapon in the conquest of fear. We are told in the scriptures that without faith it is impossible to please God and I should like to add that for most of us without faith life would hardly be worth the living in these days of stress and anxiety.

"We certainly need more faith in our government, upon which we believe that the principles upon which the country was established met with divine approval; the ideals of democracy and unselfish service for humanity for which the nation has always stood must be ultimately successful. We all know, of course, that our government is not perfect by any means, but notwithstanding all of its weaknesses where is there another that is better? This country has passed through greater crises than we are facing today and has lived through them. This great government is not yet ready to disintegrate but instead will eventually come through this furnace of affliction, stronger for its testing. The clouds of political and economic unrest must eventually disappear when again the sun of happiness and contentment will appear.

"We also need today a greater faith in God. We have already mentioned that the church is being sorely tested today and while I admit that this present crisis is one of the greatest in its history, yet I feel sure that the church has passed through greater crises than this. If we believe that the church is the product of the will of God we know that it must live. No institution can ever be more bitterly assailed or persecuted and yet have lived on through the centuries as has the church. There is only one solution to this experience and that is that the church has met with the approval of God and as long as God lives the church will live. Here again we believe that the present struggle through which the church is passing will work out for it a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.

His Charge To The Class

"To the members of the class, may I say that one of the greatest needs for every one of us is a more vital faith in a living God. As long as we believe that God is in His heavens all must eventually be well with His world. With a stronger faith in Him a new hope must be the inevitable result. These days are dark enough for most of us but terrible indeed must they be for those who have no religious faith to sustain them in the experiences of fear. With this faith, young people it is possible for you to overcome whatever fears or doubts you may have concerning the future for, as the Apostle John has said—'This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.'"

Paul Tillia Named To Head Grand Jury

"Numbers Racket" Cases Are Principal Ones To Be Presented To Jury

Paul Tillia of Wayne township, was appointed foreman of the grand jury when the June term of quarter sessions court convened this morning. Only one of the jurors, John Veach, of Pulaski, asked to be excused and the quest was granted.

Immediately after a charge by the court, the grand jury went into session in court room No. 2, where the cases to be presented by District Attorney, Mont L. Alley, will be considered. Among the cases to be taken up will be those growing out of the recent "numbers racket" raid led by Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard.

The grand jury only hears one side of a case, the object being to determine, whether or not the case should go to trial. When it is found that there is good grounds for the charge a true bill is returned, and where the evidence for the commonwealth is not very conclusive "not a true bill" is returned and the case is ended.

targets for his criticism as the former president declared:

"Iowa pioneers built this state under freedom, not under a political bureaucracy that coddled their daily actions, limited the products of their factories and their farms, that told them they could or could not start a new enterprise."

"It is true old age and misfortune deserve protection and that the haunting fear of poverty should be driven from among us. It may be that there are some who, fearing competition in life, wish for assurance from government of a routine job where they advance by political favor or seniority and get a pension at the end."

DIED.—

In the United States of America, Monday, May 27, 1935 the illegal child of General Hugh L. Johnston, better known as the Blue Eagle. This the youngest and also the death of this child would have taken long before it did, had it not been for the personal respect a lot of people had for its adopted father, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and on this account they put up with a lot of things this child did that they would otherwise not have done, as it is a well known fact that the parent is not always responsible for the actions of his child.

This child even though young in years has broken the hearts of more American people and ruined more business concerns than any other child ever known and will be remembered along with some of our other trouble makers that was sentenced to death in the Electric Chair.

We know that there will be a large number of people who have helped nurse any pamper this child, who will lose their good positions, but maybe they will go to work and make a living like the ones who have been paying their salaries.

Now as this child is resting in the New Deal graveyard we hope that the small business men of the country will be able to run their own business, the mother pig will not fear to bring forth after her kind and the hule in the south will not have to work overtime, plowing down the cotton the Lord has grown for his people.

JUNE WEDDING AT NEW WILMINGTON

First among June weddings was one solemnized Saturday evening at 5:30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Mounts on East Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington when their daughter, Juanita May, became the bride of Howard Brown, son of Mrs. Mary Brown, of Clarks-ville, Pa.

The exchange of vows took place in the presence of the U. P. church, with the Rev. Ralph Neale, D. D., officiating. Mrs. William Burney, the bride's sister-in-law, served as matron of honor and Robert Mounts, a brother, was best man. The bride was becomingly gowned in yellow organdy, made long, with which she wore a picture hat, and a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. Her attendant's gown was fashioned in white flowered organdy and her wide brimmed hat and corsage harmonized.

Following the ceremony a reception and dinner was held in the Mounts home. The rooms were abloom with early summer flowers, dogwood, spirea, iris and peonies. At the bride's table a centerpiece was formed of a miniature bride and groom under an arch of greenery. Mrs. Harry Kelly was an aide. Among the guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blair, of the Harlansburg road; Mrs. Mary Brown of Clarksville; the groom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Burney, Clarksville, Pa.; Frank Fruit, Fredonia, Pa.; William Fruit, Transfer, Pa.

Dispensing with a wedding trip, the newlyweds went to their furnished home in Clarksville to reside.

Mrs. Brown is a graduate of New Wilmington high school, class of '31, and has been associated with her father in business in New Wilmington. Mr. Brown was graduated from Sharon high school and attended St. Francis College. He is employed at the sheet mill in Fair-ell.

MURIEL EDMUNDS AND A. H. KLINGENSMITH WED

Lovely and colorful was the wedding this morning, of Miss Muriel Edmunds, daughter of Mrs. Mary Edmunds of North Mercer street, to Abe H. Klingensmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Klingensmith of Adams street. The ceremony took place before a large assemblage of relatives and friends, at 10:30 o'clock, in a setting of decorative beauty with tall standards of the seasons choicest blooms, outlined with greenery, and graceful palms, and ferns. Officiating was the Rev. C. H. Heaton, pastor, who used the impressive single ring service.

Preceding the entrance of the bride, Garth Edmundson played a program of nuptial music speaking of love, life and happiness. Miss Muriel Edmunds, a sister of the bride, rendered beautifully, Cadmans "At Dawning" and "Cause" by Guy d' Hardelot. The bride's chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was played for the processional by Mr. Edmundson.

The bride presented a lovely picture, proceeding to the altar on the arm of her brother, Thomas Edmunds, who gave her in marriage, she being attired in exquisite gown of white moss crepe, in princess mode. It was fashioned with long full sleeves caught with a snug band at the wrist, and the new high double rounded collar, with button front to the high waist line. The skirt of her gown was made very long and full, showing the tips of her ivory satin slippers, and she wore a turban to match, with roses and valley lilies, and also, a large white chiffon handkerchief, the gift of her matron of honor, Mrs. Catherine VanDyke.

Mrs. VanDyke was stunning in a suede crepe patterned on the same lines as the brides, in a beautiful shade of pink. The sleeves of her gown were fitted to the arm however, with tight wrist band, and the neckline was identical to the brides. The skirt was long and flowing, and she carried a bouquet of mixed flowers, in dresden shades. She wore a large French blue straw picture hat.

Ralph Reynolds Huffman, served the groom as best man, and C. Lester Klingensmith and Ralph E. Ferree, were ushers. The male attendants wore the conventional black suits, with white ties, gloves and shoes.

While the responses were made and the vows lightly, Mr. Edmundson played softly, selections most appropriate to the occasion. The swelling chords of the "Wedding March" from "Mid Summer Night's Dream" by Mendelssohn, then filled the church with its triumphant melody and to its music the bride and groom, after a congratulatory period left the church and were driven to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Klingensmith, the former a brother of the groom, on Temple avenue, where a wedding breakfast was served. Covers were laid for forty guests, at a table attractively decorated in all white appointments, with a large tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, forming the centerpiece. The residence was richly decorated in a multitude of flowers, and chandeliers were showered with greenery and rosebuds.

The bride's mother was attired in a pink flowered crepe with accessories in white, and wore a shoulder corsage of pink rose buds and the groom's mother chose an all white crepe gown, with shoulder bouquet of tea roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Klingensmith left later in the day, for an Eastern motor trip to New York, New Jersey and other points. For traveling, the bride selected a chic red plaid ensemble, with white accessories. Upon their return, the young couple will take up residence in New Castle.

The bride and groom are graduates of the local high school, Mrs. Klingensmith has been employed as private secretary to Attorney Robert White, and he is affiliated with the William Ferver Company here. Mr. Klingensmith is a graduate of the Spencerian School of Accounting at Cleveland, Ohio, and is a member of the Phi Alpha Zeta fraternity. Both are popular among the young social set here, and have received a collection of magnificent gifts, testifying to the high esteem which they are held.

The rehearsal dinner was given Sunday evening by Mrs. VanDyke in her Meyer avenue home. Covers marked for eight guests at the artistically decorated table, with a beautiful flower centerpiece of iris buds, pink roses and other flowers of pastel shades, flanked by four stately white tapers. Unique bridal place cards, were found at each place. The rehearsal followed at the church.

Guests were present from out of town, from Cleveland, O., Kittanning and Sharon.

THE FAMILY BULLY

He fusses around home. He loses his temper there very easily. Everything must be just so or he goes to pieces. He scolds his children, nags at his wife and sulks when she doesn't please him.
He blows up if his socks have holes in them or if his shirt lacks a button and announces to the entire family that it's a shame. His feelings are easily hurt—at home—he lets everybody know about it. The children don't tell him things; they hide themselves from him.
Poor fellow! He isn't a Big Shot outside of his home, so he wants to be one there. He isn't doing the kind of work he wants to do or he isn't doing his work as well as it should be done. He doesn't feel adequate in the world of other men and he wants to make up for it somehow.
So he takes it out on the family. Sometimes his family is sorry for him. Sometimes they hate him. He knows his children aren't enthusiastic about him, but he doesn't know how to handle the situation except by being a Family Bully. And that doesn't work either.
I heard the other day of a boy whose one ambition until he was 18 years old was to be big enough to lick his old man. Did he lick his old man when he was big enough? No, when he grew that big he was sorry for his father and wouldn't lay a hand on him. . . . And that's not such an uncommon situation, either. Why don't they realize that the only kind of domination worth having is that that comes through the affection of their families. . . . I've known men like that. Men who never made much money, but whose family was always glad when father came home. Because he was One of the Bunch and not a petty tyrant. So they loved him and he was a success. . . . And I guess any man can be that kind of success if he wants to be, and will set his mind to it and work at it, and remember that it's a sign of weakness and not of strength—to be the Family Bully.

Court Changes with Times
Supreme Body Reverses Self
Eichel Reviews History

This is the first of three articles by Leslie Eichel on the supreme court and the constitution.

Central Press

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 3.—The United States supreme court in nullifying laws has constantly reversed itself—eventually agreeing with congress. A study of American history brings the voices of the people first, and then the supreme court senses them some decades later.

A notable example is set forth in "A History of the American People," by Woodrow Wilson, written prior to his becoming president of the United States.

Said Mr. Wilson, on Page 230 of the Fifth volume, speaking of the difficulties of President Grover Cleveland in 1895:

"The internal revenue act, with its provision for an income tax, had gone through both houses as a part of the tariff measure; but it stood as law only nine months. The income tax was at once challenged in the federal courts, test cases were hurried to a conclusion, and on the 20th of May, 1895, the supreme court declared it unconstitutional."

"It was a reversal of former decisions. A tax upon incomes had been among the innumerable taxes adopted to support the war for the Union, and the court had then deemed the tax permissible."

"But it now took another position. 'The tax was, it said, a direct tax; the constitution provided that direct taxes should be apportioned among the several states in proportion to their population; and, inasmuch as this tax was not so apportioned, it was unconstitutional.'"

"Without the income tax the deficit caused by the reduction of duty (tariff) just effected could not be made good, and the financial position of the government became more difficult than ever. There was not the expenditures, which congress had voted as lavishly as if the treasury were full to overflowing."

"The income tax later became the fundamental tax law of the federal government."

Panic, poverty and strikes gripped the country, following the supreme court decision.

"But, more, the age of huge monopolies ('trusts') began."

With the government restricted from imposing income taxes, and with tariffs forced up, money began to centralize into a few hands, while both government and the people suffered from penury.

The change in the other direction began when Theodore Roosevelt became president, and, later, Woodrow Wilson. The brilliant economic achievements of Woodrow Wilson's first term are obscured by the war during his second term.

BRYAN AROSE
President Cleveland tried to meet the situation realistically.

But on one side he was hampered by the demands of business for the government to keep hands off, and on the other side there arose a group that demanded what now may be termed as "inflation"—the abandonment of the gold standard and the free coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of one ounce of gold to 16 ounces of silver.

Perhaps it had gone too far in obstructing President Cleveland.

It spent millions, had William McKinley of Ohio nominated by the Republicans, and narrowly escaped through. If Bryan had been possessed of the radio, he would have won.

With Mark Hanna, Big Business boss, actually dominating the White House, every progressive measure, every progressive thought was swept aside, and Big Business had full sway. The unrestricted growth of money, and centralization in that period finally culminated ten years later in the panic of 1907.

TODAY'S ARGUMENTS?
As one re-reads American history he sees how today's arguments are much like those of yesterday.

As congress was about to take each new step forward, there came an insistent demand that it adjourn, "to let business recover." (But when congress did adjourn, the patient usually relapsed into a fever panic later, and then would come crying for aid to save his life.)

When Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board of General Electric, today urges congress to go home, (before it passes the anti-utility holding company bill, the Wagner labor disputes bill, the banking reform bill or any social legislation), he merely is voicing the opinion of the interests which have opposed government "encroachments on business" since the days of Andrew Jackson to the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Bible Thought
For Today

"Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not thou the chastening of the Almighty."—Job 5:17.

Correctly Speaking—

A preposition governing several objects should be repeated with each object after the first, when the construction of those objects would otherwise not be immediately clear.

Words of Wisdom

The mind is the master over every kind of fortune; itself acts in both ways, being the cause of its own happiness and misery.—Seneca.

Correct this sentence: "I cuss a little myself," said he, "so I don't mind hearing my wife swear."

Dinner Stories

KEEPING UP ITS NAME

"I say, you know that dog you sold me the other day? Well, it won't beg for me."

"I should think not; do it yourself. That dog has a pedigree to think about."

MAKING SURE

The conductor came down the bus collecting fares and stopping before a passenger who was sitting with his arms extended in front of him. "Your fare, please?" he asked.

"You'll find a dime in my right-hand coat pocket," said the man. The conductor stared at the man suspiciously.

"Anything the matter with your arms?" he asked.

"Oh, no," came the reply, "the width between my hands is the size of a pane of glass I'm going to buy."

Mother: "Eat your spinach, dear." Son: "Aw, I don't like it." "Just make believe you like it, dear." "I'd rather make believe I'm eating it."

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

MONDAY JUNE 3.

Today's Yesterdays—June 3, 1657—William Harvey, discoverer of circulation of the blood, died at 79—of a blood ailment.

He first brought forward his views upon the movement of the blood when 28. An early biographer tells us "After his book upon the circulation came out he fell mightily in his practice and was believed by the vulgar that he was crackbrained."

June 3, 1740—Jethro Tull died at 70, one of the greatest and least known benefactors of mankind. He was a law-trained English city man whose ill health compelled him to become a farmer. He became the inventor of drill-sowing and advocate of frequent hoeing, introducing the practice of sowing in rows sufficiently wide apart to allow for tillage by plow and hoe during the whole period of growth.

June 3, 1826—The Rev. Jedidiah Morse (Congregational) died at 63 after having anticipated Rev. C. E. Coughlin in using the pulpit to express liberal political and economic views and attract national attention.

He is remembered now only because he wrote the first popular texts on American geography, and because he was the father of Samuel Finley Breese Morse, pioneer in telegraphy.

June 3, 1850—Jean Francois Gravelle, known best as Charles Blondin, aged 35, became the first person to walk a tight rope across Niagara Falls.

Notable Nativities—Jefferson Davis, born 1808, near the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln in Kentucky, within 8 months of the latter's birth.

George Windsor, b. 1865, king He likes to dunk his cake. . . . Raymond Pearl, b. 1879 eminent biologist and neglected author. . . . Jim Tully, b. 1891, tramp novelist. . . . William H. King, b. 1864, senator from Utah. . . . Roland Hayes, b. 1887, great colored singer of world fame. . . . Dennis Mackall, b. 1892, English novelist whose "The Square Circle" we recommend. . . . George Maxwell, b. 1880 U. S. irrigator.

Writing Wrongs—You may believe that all ivory is creamy white. It isn't. Tusks of some elephants are rose-colored, some brown, some even black. And may believe—that there's ham in hamburger.

Or That it's really very dangerous for those lion-trainers you see in circuses with a cage full of cats, to turn his back on the animals while they're on perches.

"Actually they're dangerous only when they're on the ground. A lion or tiger needs leverage and can spring only from the ground." Roy McCullough, Boaz, Ala., tells us.

WHY THE PYMATUNING!

WE were sort of under the impression that the Pymatuning dam was built for the purpose of conserving a water supply for the Shenango valley and guarding against destructive floods in the same area.

Judging from the discussion that now and then emanates from the Pittsburgh district, it would appear that the chief cause of the erection of the dam was to provide a huge lake for the recreation of the people of that area.

Discussion as to whether or not boats will be allowed, what park facilities will be provided, how many camps and beaches will be maintained, etc., seem to attract entire attention.

Some four hundred CCC youths will soon be at work in the district providing improvements around the lake area, and the commissions of Ohio and Pennsylvania have already agreed upon the details of the joint control of the lake in certain lines.

There is no objection to the plans for beautifying the lake area, for making use of it as a recreation and fishing center, but the fact must not be lost sight of that the primary purpose of the Pymatuning is to guarantee a sufficient water supply for Greenville, Sharon, Farrell, New Castle, and other Shenango valley towns and communities, both for industrial and domestic use.

With the recreational feature given too much emphasis, it would not be surprising at some time in the future to see an effort made to prevent the water being let out of the lake when a certain shore line is reached.

Such a move would defeat the purpose for which the lake was created, and while perhaps a little imaginary at the present time, must be anticipated and guarded against.

NEW YORK'S WASHINGTON

Mayor La Guardia continues to be the most persistent seeker after federal funds for city projects. New York now has established headquarters in Washington in order to get the money while the getting is good. Space has been leased in a convenient location for a period of seven months. The mayor spends two days a week at the national capital in his capacity as a member of the Federal Allotment Board representing the United States Conference of Mayors.

Thus there has been set up "The New York City Embassy," or the "Washington branch of New York City Hall." If Ambassador La Guardia's idea catches on, city public works embassies may be as thick in the capital as alphabetical administrations.

A SIGN OF LIFE

A most heartening interpretation of the rising tide of criticism of present policies in the national government is given by Henry I. Harriman, who has just retired as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"This active discussion of current problems," Mr. Harriman says, "this keen difference of opinion is, to my mind, evidence of real recovery and an indication that the crisis in our economic life is passing."

In support of this conclusion there are volumes of evidence available. Not the least impressive is the New York Times business index, which shows advances to 83, all components being higher with the single exception of lumber production.

And most encouraging of all is the condition of the automobile industry. Automobile production in April was the greatest for any April in the whole history of the industry, except 1929, 477,546 units having been turned out for the benefit of a ready market.

OUR NAVY IN THE PACIFIC

Although the fleet maneuvers in the Pacific are not yet ended, they have progressed sufficiently to justify Secretary Swanson's approval of the results. For one thing, the capacity of Pearl Harbor in Hawaii as a naval base has been amply demonstrated. It has been filled with no less than 165 ships of various classes, including twelve battleships. All but 35 of them will return to San Diego, the rest being regularly stationed there—an outer bulwark of the defensive force.

The final problem of the maneuvers will be solved when the sortie from the harbor is conducted in the face of the "enemy" fleet, with which submarines will be employed. The aircraft will be concentrated at San Diego in July. From San Francisco the mighty armada will proceed to Puget Sound. The light cruisers and destroyers will go to Alaska and Midway Island. Indeed, all summer long there will be cruises and maneuvers to test our naval strength to the utmost.

That there is resentment in Japan at this unprecedented demonstration is true. But there is no justification for it. The Pacific is our ocean, too, and it is well that other nations should understand our ability and our will to protect our rights there.

"SEEING" OVER THE PHONE

After many years—just how many cannot be definitely fixed by any amateur—long-distance telephone conversation vis-a-vis grows definitely nearer. The whole achievement of television is too technical in essence to be dealt with by any one not trained in science, but its possibilities appeal to all of us.

Carried to its farthest reaches, perfected television possesses connotations to the thoughtful. One can, to take an easy path, visualize a gentleman calling up his wife—about 6:30 o'clock in the evening—to inform her, with very careful enunciation, that he has been detained by important business at the office, will have to be late and to not wait dinner for him. The wife, if she is like 98.6 per cent of experienced wives, suspects the worst, but with television she will have some degree of certainty.

The domain of "taking a girl out" will be seriously invaded. The lady, much en dishabille, responds to a call and, from habit, says: "I feel like a rag." Peering into the television dings, the swain agrees: "I see you do." Which is not at all according to the old rules. Or she says: "I am going to stay in tonight and go to bed early." Or she says: "turned-down one might respond, genially, 'That is a swell new dress you've got on; makes you look like a million dollars,' knowing full well that a show, with somebody else paying for the tickets, is a near prospect.

Nobody is willing to deny science and all its achievements. Television will bring new problems to life. But the fair sex is adaptable to changed conditions. It can always think up something else.

CHAIN LETTERS

Chain letters carrying a threat Of dire disaster, death and loss, Which days gone by I used to get, Into the basket off I'd toss.

It seemed impertinent to me That total strangers should assume That I would even want to be A messenger of grief and gloom.

Now come the letters in the chain With "send a dollar or a dime And almost countless wealth you'll gain At no expense of toil or time."

Who sends such letters unto me Will buy the postage stamps in vain. For I am satisfied to be The weakest link of such a chain.

Capital which overreaches for profits; labor which overreaches for wages; or a public which overreaches for bargains will all destroy each other. There is no salvation for us on that road.—Owen D. Young.

JUNIOR B. P. W. GIRLS MEET AT BUTLER CLUB

The New Castle Junior Business and Professional Women's club had a joint dinner meeting with the Wilkesburg Junior B. P. W. members Sunday afternoon at the Sterling club in Butler, Pa.

The occasion was in the form of a dinner meeting, with the menu being served at 1 o'clock. Fourteen members of the local organization and 16 were present from Wilkesburg.

After partaking of the menu, the girls spent the time leisurely in chatting over the work of each club and enjoyed a "good fellowship" period, when each made themselves acquainted. They exchanged ideas in regard to the work of their particular group, which was most interesting.

On Tuesday evening the local Junior B. P. W. members will have their annual picnic outing at the B. P. W. cottage, located at Lakewood. Those planning to attend this last gathering of the season will meet at Strouss-Hirschberg's promptly at 5:30 o'clock, where transportation will be provided. An interesting program has been arranged.

Those in charge of reservations include Carrie Wharton, chairman, Amanda Ruby and Marjorie Powell.

Cappabianca-Faraone

A pretty wedding took place in St. Vitus church, Saturday morning, June 1, when Miss Caroline Cappabianca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cappabianca, of Pearson street, was united in marriage to Joseph Faraone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Faraone, of Lutton street. Rev. Father N. DeMita officiated.

The bride was lovely in white satin, with a veil of tulle falling from a small cap. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Miss Mary De Lillo was maid of honor, wearing pink taffeta with harmonizing accessories, and carrying an arm bouquet of red roses. Andrew Russo was best man.

At noon, an elegant dinner was served in the bride's home, and in the evening scores of friends of the young couple attended a reception in their honor. Among the guests were several from Youngstown and Pittsburgh.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, the bride and groom will reside at 316 East Lutton street.

Little Childhood Club

The Little Childhood Club members, will assemble at the home of Virginia Brinko, 107 West Wallace avenue, Saturday, June 2 for their regular session. SENIORS ENJOY DANCE SATURDAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., June 3.—Approximately 200 couples enjoyed the senior class dance at Westminster College Saturday night. The event, held in the gymnasium, was a spring informal dance, and provided a break in the final examination week which started last Thursday and extends until this Thursday.

Pastel shades of crepe paper and spring flowers formed the decorative scheme for the dance, and sports clothes in light colors were worn by most of the students in attendance. A number of alumni also attended the function.

Chaperons were Professor and Mrs. John D. Lawther and Professor and Mrs. Robert X. Graham. Honor guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Patton, President and Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath, Dean Mary E. Turner, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Freeman, and Dr. and Mrs. Harold Black. Donald Kellett, Freeport, L. I., was general chairman.

When athletes agree upon one cigarette, its mildness is placed beyond question. For they must be sure about mildness! Pete Desjardins says: "Camels are so mild that I can smoke as many as I like and still keep my wind in perfect condition."

Pepper Martin, fleet-footed St. Louis Cardinal, says: "Camels are mild—don't cut down on my speed or wind."

And Pepper is backed by Leo Sexton, Olympic shot-put record holder; Craig

Wood, the golf star; Reggie McNamara, the "bike" racer; and Susan Vilas, of swimming fame—all outstanding athletes who say they smoke Camels all they please, without disturbing their wind or nerves.

More enjoyment for you in this mild cigarette! You'll find you can smoke Camels all you want! And athletes say that Camel's costlier tobaccos don't tire their taste—don't upset their nerves or get their "wind."

Few Pennsylvania Farmers Vote On Wheat Control Plan

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—Even an Administration-conducted survey reveals that Pennsylvania farmers are less in favor of continuing the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's wheat control program than are farmers of the nation generally.

The Administration persuaded only 3432 Pennsylvania farmers to vote in the referendum on the wheat reduction plan. Of these, 2487 or 72 per cent favored continuing the program. In the country as a whole, on the other hand, 86.6 per cent of all farmers who voted endorsed the wheat program.

Of the 2487 Keystone State farmers who voted approval of the wheat plan, 1753 had contracts with the government under which they received federal benefit payments, and 734 had no such contracts. Of the 945 Pennsylvania farmers opposing the wheat program, 656 had signed benefit payment contracts and 289 had not entered into such agreements with Uncle Sam.

Young Lioness Is Given To Circus Wild Animal Trainer, In New Castle

To his collection of lions and tigers, Bert Nelson, of the Hagenbeck-Wallace shows added a lioness Saturday night. Harry Budd, of Poland, O. who has been in the animal training line for some years had a young female cub "Queenie" which he wanted to place with some one who would give her a good home. He came to New Castle and offered to give her to Nelson and the intrepid lion tamer agreed to take her.

And in connection with animal training it appears we have been going on the assumption that taming lions for a living was something of a hazardous job, that making a tiger roll over and play dead was like flirting with the "Old Man with the Scythe." But along comes Bert Nelson and tells us that there really isn't much to it.

Nelson should know something about it. He is the sandy haired young Adonis who is featured in the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus which played here Saturday, who put that cage full of lions, tigers and leopards, through their paces. For the past fifteen years he has made his living training ferocious animals but he insists that it isn't as hazardous as the "sob sisters" would have you believe.

Work By Instinct

"Sure they might turn on their tamed," said Nelson as he sat in his dressing room Saturday afternoon. "But there isn't much chance of it. They know what they are supposed to do and they do it. Animals have no developed intelligence. They work by instinct and by the association of ideas they learn what we want of them. Training them is just like training a child. You must have patience without end to get them to do what you want. You have to reward them as they advance step by step, and get this—we never beat them for disobedience or failure to learn."

Nelson is an anomaly in the entertainment field. He is absolutely without ego. In the ring he is the master of as savage a group of man eaters as has ever been thrown together. Outside the ring he is a modest young fellow, dresses as quietly as a business man, has a charming conversational manner—and spends a lot of his spare time looking at flower gardens. And this friend is no attempt of an admiring reporter to build up any false front for a star performer.

Nelson has been on the stage for a number of years. Before coming with Hagenbeck-Wallace he was a member of the M. G. M. stock players in Hollywood and likes to think of himself as an actor rather than a lion tamer.

Ambition To Be Writer

His ambition is to be a writer. He seems to think it is more of a trick to jump a split infinitive through the hoop than it is to have a Bengal tiger eating out of his hand. He has had a number of articles accepted by leading magazines and is constantly collecting data and atmosphere for future writing.

A queen combination this Bert Nelson. From a newspaper standpoint he is grand copy, from a human standpoint he is a thorough going gentleman, a very eligible young bachelor who has yet to see the girl who surpasses a little old lady in Los Angeles. Cal. whose son he is. A debunking sort of chap who laughs when you suggest that those animals are dynamite. He boasts of no hypnotic eye to control his animals, he merely uses common sense, but after looking at those five inch fangs the tigers call teeth we can't help but believe that the gentleman has a lot of that quality known as courage.

Spend Less On Pupils Of City

New Castle School Expenses Less Than Average For Cities Of Size

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Wilmington Correspondent,
New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—New Castle apparently spends $13.97 less per pupil annually on education than does the average city of its population class, according to a survey conducted by the United States office of Education.

The study included school expenditures on public institutions in 80 cities of 10,000 to 99,999 population for the school term of 1933-34. Such disbursements in New Castle were recorded as averaging $67.45 per pupil. In the 80 cities as a group, on the other hand, such expenditures averaged $81.42 per pupil or $13.97 more than the New Castle outlay.

New Castle ranked fiftieth of the 80 cities in per pupil costs. Of the $67.45 per pupil payments in New Castle $50.03 went for instruction, which included salaries and expenses of supervisors, principals and teachers, and costs of textbooks issued free to pupils, and other educational supplies. In the 80 cities as a group, instruction averaged $63.24 per pupil.

Mlle. Marie Rasputin Out Of Russia Forever

Twenty years ago she was a member of the imperial Russian household. Her father was the adviser of Czar Nicholas, the mysterious Rasputin, the "Mad Monk". Apparently life held out for her a life of ease and comfort.

Today she is Mlle. Marie Rasputin, a star circus performer, a gracious young lady with laughing eyes and a broad Russian accent that she will probably never lose. She it was who had the lion riding a horse in the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus Saturday night and had the king of the jungle jumping through blazing hoops.

"I still love my native land," said Mlle. Rasputin in her dressing room Saturday. "But I can never go back there as long as conditions are what they are. They would kill me. They killed my father. They killed the czar and his family and surely they would kill me."

Her circus life thrills her, although she is a veteran performer. "What does she think of America? 'Ah, it is so very nice,' said she. 'Here the people are kind to me, they like my act, I shall remain here.'"

Married at 18 to a Russian officer, she was captured and tried by the Bolsheviks and with her husband sentenced to death. They escaped by bribery, her husband later died and she became a ballet dancer in Germany. She then took up horse training and later an animal trainer, rising to the heights on the Continent.

Safety Campaign At Wampum Plant

Raise Safety Flag At Crescent Portland Cement Co. Plant Saturday

Saturday, June 1, was Safety Flag Raising Day at the Crescent Portland Cement Co., Wampum, ceremonies being conducted at 11:30 a. m. with about 150 employees present.

Monday is "Judgment Day," so designated to remind employees of the part their good judgment must play in preventing accidents while they work. Every day this week brief meetings will be held at the plant with discussions led by the foremen to stimulate about personal causes of accidents.

It has been pointed out that in nine out of ten cases, accidents occurring in cement mills are caused by failure of the human element. Mental and physical condition, day dreaming, hasty and impulsive actions, deliberate or unthinking violations of safety rules are some of the things which will receive attention this week as the June No-Accident campaign gets officially under way.

Reports from the Portland Cement association, Chicago, sponsor of the June campaign, say that nearly 160 plants in the United States and Canada are flying the safety flag, emblematic of participation in the industry-wide safety effort. If an accident occurs the plant flag must be lowered and the association notified.

The committee in charge of "Personal Safety Week" activities at the local plant is under the chairmanship of John Brommer. Other members are F. L. Herbert, Raymond Talley, E. E. Wolfe, Frank Atelke and A. H. Brown.

Borah Replies To Roosevelt

Discusses Supreme Court Decision On NRA And Government Changes

SAYS PEOPLE MUST PASS ON PROPOSALS

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 3.—Taking up President Roosevelt on his stand the supreme court's decisions have returned the federal government to the horse-and-buggy days, Senator William E. Borah said the "ox-cart system" may pass out, under the demand of a different civilization and of greater leaders' but he believes "they should, and will, hold a high place at the bar of history."

In a vigorous defense of the supreme court's decision holding the national recovery act unconstitutional, Borah said "if the people wish to wipe out state lines and consolidate the union into one unbroken empire they have the power under the constitution to do so."

Must Consult People.

"The political philosophy of General Johnson, Mr. Richberg and Dr. Tugwell may supplant the political philosophy of General Washington, Madison and Jefferson," he said, "but the only thing that I shall urge is that in the matter of the change the people be consulted. It should not be changed in Washington. It should be changed by the people alone."

... The constitutional powers which have been sufficient to deal with the great emergencies of the past we still enjoy unimpaired," Borah emphasized. "And they are equal to all the demands of a powerful nation in distress if faithfully and patiently employed. They seem to be ample now as they have been at all times to sweep away all obstacles which stand in the way of their constitutional exercise."

Decide Main Questions. He said the court has decided three main questions. First, that the supreme court in rendering its opinions is bound by the written terms of the constitution. Second, that congress alone, under the constitution as it now stands, possesses the legislative power of the national government. Third, that the states alone may legislate touching matters wholly within the state.

On rejecting the doctrine that the existence of an emergency justifies a disregard of the plain terms of the constitution, he said "the supreme court announced no new doctrine."

"If any such power is to be given the court or to the congress or to the executive let those who urge that such powers be given come forward with a proposal in the way of an amendment to the constitution," the veteran Idaho Republican senator said.

Under what he called the "riotous power" given the president by the recovery act, over 5,000 laws and over 17,000 rules and regulations were promulgated which cost about $41,000,000 to administer.

Weather In May

Extremely Cool

Statistics Reveal Average Temperature Was Seven Degrees Cooler Than Last Year

PRECIPITATION IS ABOVE NORMAL

May temperatures were far below the normal mark, the statistics of B. F. Johnson, U. S. weather observer, show. There was an excess of precipitation, however, which was badly needed.

The figures show that the daily average temperature was 6.7 degrees under what they were for last year, and 5.7 degrees per day below the normal. The excess in precipitation over the normal was seven-tenths of an inch.

The mean maximum temperature was 66.3 degrees, the mean minimum 41.3 degrees and the mean, 53.8. The normal mean for May is 59.5. The highest temperature was 84 degrees, which was reached on the 10th and 27th, while the lowest was 31 degrees, noted on May 13, 22 and 24. The greatest daily range was 40 degrees on May 22.

The total precipitation for the month was 4.08 inches, the normal for May being 3.38 inches. The greatest amount in 24 hours was 1.05 inches on the 7th. Days with .01 inches or more of precipitation were 14, days clear 15, partly cloudy 11 and cloudy, five.

In 1934 there was a deficiency in rainfall of 2.57 inches, a drought of serious proportions occurring during the month. There was an excess of one degree in the mean temperature.

The train, has been built of a stronger lighter material. Many new and unique features have been built into the new train to promote greater comfort and convenience. The floors are made of a cork-lined construction and the shatter-proof windows are of the double sash, wide-vision type.

This train has been touring the east for the past three weeks, and will end its tour in Baltimore, after which it will be in regular service between Chicago and St. Louis.

LOCAL MAN IS TOLD TO WITHDRAW PLEA AND STAND TRIAL

BUTLER, Pa., June 3.—Hinting possibly of "spite work," Judge John H. Wilson today directed Arthur Wolf, New Castle youth who pleaded guilty here to a charge of false pretense, to withdraw his plea and stand trial.

"I mean to find out what's going on out in Summit township," the judge told Wolf. "It seems strange that you are being brought into court every week."

Wolf's last arrest was made after Frank Scheetz, Great Belt, filed an information charging the youth got a gold watch from him in exchange for a rifle which Scheetz alleged, was not Wolf's property.

Wolf had been arrested twice before on charges of burglary and larceny preferred by Henry Strobel and Lee G. Frederick, both of Great Belt. In each case Wolf pleaded guilty, and was paroled after paying the costs.

Oriental Dinner

Tonight At 6:30 In The Cathedral

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock, in The Cathedral, the congregation of the Saint John the Baptist Syrian Maronite Roman Catholic church will stage its first annual Oriental dinner and musical program.

Final plans, for the affair which promises to attract a large crowd, have been completed. All day Saturday and Sunday a corps of women under the direction of Mrs. M. Joseph were busily engaged preparing delicious oriental food, the same as that served to the Amirs and kings for hundreds of years. Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Samuel Abraham, chairman in charge of the event, some of the best Oriental dancers and singers in the district will appear on the program.

Electro-System About Finished

After sixteen months of work, the electrification of the Pennsylvania railroad lines between Philadelphia and Washington is about completed, according to H. E. Truby a New Castle man who has been working on the project.

A number of New Castle men were sent down east when the job started and within a short time they will probably be back in New Castle. Mr. Truby will return to Philadelphia within a day or two but his work on the electrification is completed.

School Director To Attend Hearing

Attorney Roy W. Hazen, a member of the New Castle School Board leaves for Harrisburg tonight to appear at a public hearing on the proposed legislation which would permit the same reduction in school salaries as has prevailed for two years.

Although the general assembly has been in session since January it has done comparatively nothing in the way of school relief and with the time for closing drawing near, school authorities all over the state are fearful lest adjournment comes without some remedial action.

URGE GUFFEY BILL TO AVERT COAL STRIKE

Miners To Press For Early Action

Bill, If Passed, Would Establish National Coal Commission

MINE LEADERS TO PREPARE FOR STRIKE

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 3.—Western Pennsylvania miners today prepared to urge passage of the Guffey-Snyder coal control bill as the only means of averting a strike June 17 that would shut down every bituminous mine in the United States.

At a meeting here it was agreed to press for legislative action as the only means of relieving the situation.

The bill, if passed, would establish a national coal commission of nine members, two representing the miners, two the operators and five the public.

Byron H. Cannon, secretary of the coal commission, said the matter had been discussed fully but that no official statement would be made at present. Senator Joseph P. Guffey returned to Washington for further conferences on his bill which is being amended and may be brought out on the floor of the senate in the next few days.

President P. T. Fagan, head of the District No. 5 of the United Mine Workers of America, said the strike order he received Saturday from President John L. Lewis would be carried out completely. Fagan said instructions would go out to the miners this week.

More than a half million miners will be involved if the strike occurs. Forty thousand of these are in the mines of Western Pennsylvania. Railroads, steel mills and other large industries say they have a supply of coal that will last them about 22 days.

Has Old Notice Of Sheriff's Sales

Paper Describing Properties To Be Sold By Sheriff In Remarkable Condition

An old sheriff's sale notice, in remarkable state of preservation, dated Thursday, May 24, 1860, was sent to The News by H. W. Parks of Edensburg, who has had the bill for 50 years.

The bill described 12 properties seized by the sheriff, Silas Stevenson, stating that they will be exposed to public sale in the courthouse at East New Castle.

One reading the bill would have a difficult time in locating some of the properties. One is described as being located in Pollock township; another in West New Castle; another in Fayetteville. Several are described as having log houses erected thereon, or log barns. One property is bounded by the Cross Cut Canal.

Less Than Half Monkey.
Meat For Jackals.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE WEYERHAEUSER child is reported safe at home; the $200,000 ransom paid. If reports be true, the criminals probably think themselves $200,000 better off than before they stole the child.

They should remember that the $200,000 did not pay them "in full." They specified that no "marked bills" should be used. Every bill issued by the government is marked with its number and series and it is safe to assume that the government keeps a record of the number and series of every ransom dollar, possibly without the knowledge of the parents.

"Payment in full" will not be made until each of the criminals is stretched on his back on a slab in the morgue, with newspaper photographs making pictures showing "where the bullets entered."

TO SAY "man is half tiger and half monkey" is sometimes unjust to the monkey. At High Point, N. C., J. R. Riggs, middle aged, operating a filling station, was found with 10-penny nails driven through each hand and each foot, fastened to a rough wooden cross. The man, having been nailed to the cross only for a short time, probably will live. Riggs admitted he had engineered the crucifixion to regain his wife's affection.

FIVE THOUSAND feet up, near Quetta in the hills of northwestern India, jackals are feasting. Thirty thousand died in the earthquake that shook the high hills. As fast as possible, natives are burning or burying the bodies, including the corpses of hundreds of patients, killed when a hospital collapsed.

But there is "good feeding" for the jackals that have come from the surrounding country, to prowl in the ruined city and find the bodies.

THE UNITED STATES has important work to do, outside of NRA and its revision, work with which the Supreme Court would not interfere, and that is control of floods, protection of population against them. Two hundred and fifty are killed in southwestern Nebraska, following flood and tornado. Exploration of the devastated territory by airplane showed that "small rivers and creeks in the territory swollen by heavy rains and cloudbursts, suddenly went out of their banks."

MEXICANS, more than 90 per cent of them Catholic, do not all

Regularity Aided By New Natural Laxative Bread

A new natural food product is finding wide use in NEW CASTLE because mothers are finding that it is a valuable aid in keeping children "regular." Keystone Bakery, working in co-operation with the Prune Growers Association and a famous food laboratory, are responsible for a delicious new natural laxative bread which is in demand everywhere for its fine flavor, and which, when eaten regularly, has a tonic, regulative effect on the system.

Many months of experimentation have resulted in the production of this tempting loaf containing the regulative properties of pure, concentrated prune juice and the need of bulk of fine flaked wheat. Tests in leading university clinics have demonstrated that the prune juice retains its laxative effects even after undergoing oven temperatures, and, in combination with the flaked wheat, produces a gentle, natural laxative action generally beneficial to people of all ages.

PRUNE-O-WHEAT Bread, as this new loaf is called, not only keeps the intestinal tract normally active, but combines the pleasing fruity flavor of prunes with the nut-like richness of flaked wheat. Local grocers have found that many people prefer PRUNE-O-WHEAT Bread for its unique flavor, alone, claiming that it makes the most delightful toast and sandwiches they have ever tasted.

PRUNE-O-WHEAT is in no sense a medicine, nor does it contain any drugs. Instead, it owes its laxative properties entirely to the two natural laxative foods contained in it—prune juice and flaked wheat. The bakers of PRUNE-O-WHEAT do not claim that they have a "cure-all." They warn anyone suffering from severe, or chronic constipation, to consult a physician, but they do maintain that PRUNE-O-WHEAT Bread, eaten regularly at every meal will do much to overcome that tendency to sluggishness due to improper diet or lack of sufficient exercise, which most people are troubled with now-a-days, due to modern living conditions.

PRUNE-O-WHEAT toast has become an extremely popular breakfast dish because most people find it a welcome change from ordinary bread. It is said to be especially adaptable for use in sweet or semi-sweet sandwiches and for use where more than one kind of bread is served at a meal.

Attracted by its unusually fine flavor, users have the added satisfaction of knowing that its principal ingredients are widely recognized natural laxatives which can be safely eaten by anyone in almost any quantity with only the most favorable results.

submit tamely to government regulations, particularly those regulations concerned with "compulsory Socialistic education." The Associated Press reports that the mayor and the president of the Agricultural Commission of the town of Tomahawk were hanged, as a protest against the new system of education. AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. June 2: 15 arrests, on charges as follows: drunkenness 7, suspicion 4, disorderly conduct 1, fighting 2 and violation of traffic rules 1.

It was the custom for some years, until recently, to open the playgrounds about the middle of June. Due to economic conditions the city was unable to operate the playgrounds during 1934. No appropriation was made for operation this summer, but according to Joe Alexander, in charge of the parks and playgrounds, there is a probability that the emergency educational council of the relief works division may take over the operation this season. Alexander realizes that playgrounds are safe places for children to play, but due to council not having made an appropriation for playgrounds, he could do nothing.

Some of the liquor sold here yesterday must have contained power, as police had to gather up four men who were found lying, down and out, in different parts of the city.

Cascade Park and the municipal golf grounds are doing a good business this season, according to reports. Cascade Park has a good crowd nightly and the "Mun" course is patronized liberally, according to City Hall reports.

With schools to close soon, one of the duties of police will be eliminated for several months. For the past nine months they have guarded children crossing streets adjacent to schools. No children en route to school were hurt crossing streets this year.

Babe Ruth Quits Boston Team, Has Heated Argument

Owner Judge Emil Fuchs Says "I Fired Babe Ruth Before He Could Quit"

(International News Service) BOSTON, June 3—Babe Ruth may never swing another ball in major league baseball, but he is far from through with the great national pastime.

As he prepared to leave for New York today following his dramatic exit from the Boston Braves, Babe said "I guess this means that I am through as a player, but I don't want to say I'm through with baseball. I still hope to go on as a manager."

Opinions Differ

Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the tribe, who declared he had written a letter to Ruth "firing" the hunk before the latter announced his resignation from the dugout during the eighth inning of the Sunday afternoon game between the Braves and Giants, declared that he was ready to leave the club if he could find a purchaser for his stock.

This move by Fuchs left the door open for Ruth to become part owner of the Braves. However, the Babe's only reply to the statement of Fuchs was: "I like Boston. I like the Braves. Manager Bill McKechnie is a swell fellow." And McKechnie said: "You're a gentleman, Babe."

Fights With Owner

In making his declaration that he was through with Fuchs over an exhibition game in Haverhill today, a performance that would have prevented him from carrying out his plans to be in New York for the welcoming of the new trans-Atlantic liner "Normandie," Fuchs wanted me to show up for that game though he knows I am in no shape to play. That's barking the public and I want none of it. I don't propose to be wheeled around as a cripple for a money box-office draw."

Babe said he thought when he hit the three homers in Pittsburgh he was on his way to a comeback after a hard spring of colds. But, he added, he received a knee injury in Cincinnati last week. "I'll never put on a Boston uniform as long as Judge Fuchs is the head of the ball club," declared Ruth.

Given Relief

Fuchs said "I have discussed the entire situation with McKechnie and he informed me he is unable to put a winning team on the field while the Babe is around. I had decided to fire Ruth."

McKechnie had nothing to say. Following a telephone conference with national league president Ford C. Frick, of New Castle, Judge Fuchs announced that the babe had been given an unconditional release from the Braves.

Mild Recovery Movement
Gets Under Way In Stock
Market TodayBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 3.—A mild recovery movement got underway on the stock market today.

Short covering and some new buying appeared, lifting leading issues above the previous close.

Settlement of the Case Threshing strike sent the stock up more than 3 points and lifted other farm implement issues.

Utilities were firm. United Corp.

preferred was active.

Chrysler rallied more than a point in the motors but General Motors was backward. U. S. Steel failed to score much improvement. Bethlehem, on the other hand, rose a point.

Individual Oil shares were better, as Standard of New Jersey, but the group as a whole did little.

Rails improved only mildly. Atchafalaya and Northern Pacific were the best performers.

Coppers recovered a little and silvers strengthened in the face of the decline in the metal.

Liquors marked time. DuPont and Union Carbide were up a point each in the chemicals. Foods were quiet.

Choral Society To Present Concert

In an effort to liquidate the loan made by the Senior high school orchestra to complete the financing of their recent trip to Madison, Wis., the New Castle Choral Society will present a concert in the Senior high school auditorium Thursday evening, June 6.

The orchestra had to borrow $200 to make up the necessary funds for the trip and a trifle of this has been raised. It is hoped that the concert on Thursday evening will make up most of the balance. No admission will be charged, but a collection will be taken.

The chorus under the direction of William Richards recently won the choral competition in Warren, O.

Church Observes
Diamond JubileeMany Former Members Return
For Program Of Day—
Former Pastor Speaks

ELLWOOD CITY, June 3.—All roads led to the Wurtemburg U. P. church yesterday when hundreds of former members and friends assembled for homecoming services in observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organizations and erection of this church.

"Do you remember when," "That's the seat where I sat while a boy," "The happiest days of my life" and "What become of John, Joe and Mary" were questions heard on every side.

The occasion was indeed a joyous one with many men and women greeting friends of their youth and recalling many incidents which occurred in the early years of the church history. In hearts of many there was sadness and gladness as memories were brought back of their parents and friends who had worked so steadfastly that this church might stand as a monument to their sincere belief in the everlasting Father.

"I Know What I Have Believed" was the theme of a most inspirational and straight-forward sermon delivered in the morning by Rev. R. H. Gordon of Riverside, Cal. Rev. Gordon, who was one of the most popular and outstanding ministers of the church, served from 1920-23. He spoke of the endurance of the 23rd Psalm and stated that a thousand years before the coming of Christ, people believed "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and many peoples will continue to believe this until the end of time.

Rev. Theodore Anderson, who recently graduated from Western Seminary in New York and a brother of Rev. Maurice Anderson, missionary, stated supply at this church during the summer of 1928, who died in India sometime ago, attended the morning service and offered prayer.

During the afternoon service, Rev. W. S. Smith of North Side church of Pittsburgh, who was pastor at Wurtemburg from 1924-27 and Rev. Gordon, brought heart-felt greetings. Greetings were given by Rev. W. E. Minter of Ellwood; Rev. Jon Smith, missionary to Japan on furlough; Rev. Garmon Johnstone of Center church and Rev. J. R. Rutledge of Ellwood Ministerial association.

A remarkable feature of the day was the statement of Mrs. Tillie Mehard Steffler of Pittsburgh that she remembered when the first shovel-full of dirt was removed for the foundation of the church 75 years ago. Miss Mary Ann Smith of Pleasant Hill attended services at the Pleasant Hill church from which the Wurtemburg church sprung more than three quarters of a century ago.

Mrs. Barbara Fisher Updegraph, of Princeton, who attended the church 65 years ago and recalled how the churches then, opposed Sunday schools. Robert Warnock of Uniontown remembered the first pastor telling how very strict he was and that the children used to hide when he came to visit as he would always catechize them. He also stated that Rev. Whitten used to walk from Beaver Falls each Sunday to conduct services at Wurtemburg.

James Anderson of Ellwood also remembered the early pastors and expressed in a feeling manner that 7 of his family had united at this church at one time and recollected fording the Connoquessing creek, there being no bridge at that time. A number of others recalled interesting events of by-gone years.

Fesper Communion services were held at 7 o'clock in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. E. Caughey assisted by Rev. Grodon and Rev. Smith. The service was most impressive and many re-dedicated their lives to the service of the church.

The following are pastors who have served this church: J. H. Peacock, John D. Glenn, James B. Whitten, Morrison S. Telford; Rev. James McDonald, stated supply; J. J. Sharp, R. Howard Mulholland, stated supply; Hugh S. Boyd, stated supply; John Hall Bredsen; Raymond H. Gordon; W. S. Smith; Maurice Anderson, stated supply and J. E. Caughey.

The services were interspersed by appropriate selections by the choir, a sextet and a duet.

Passes Half Way Mark
Over Week-End

ELLWOOD CITY, June 4.—Community Chest drive in Ellwood City is beginning its third week with the goal of $20,000 in sight. The report of the committee over the week end shows that the amount to date is $12,000.

This leaves the drive just $8,000 from its goal, which fact brings a ray of hope to General Chairman Dr. H. S. Gold and his hard working committees. The drive will be extended until the drive goes over the top. The entire amount is needed more than ever for the local hospital whose doors may be closed if the drive fails. Solicitors are continuing their work with renewed hope.

Year's Graduates Here To Total 530

Largest Class In Senior
High History To Receive Diplomas

TUESDAY'S CLASS
LARGEST FOR JUNE

All past Senior high school graduation records will fall on Tuesday night when Vice President J. Herbert McIlvenny of the board of education, acting for school authorities, presents diplomas to 361 seniors—the largest group of seniors ever to graduate as a class at any local commencement.

In January's mid-year commencement a class of 169 received certificates and the 1935 graduate total, 530, exceeds by 30 or more any graduation record of the past.

The class of 1925, graduated at a time when Senior high held only June commencements, ranks as the second largest class in the history of the school. Up until this year that senior group of 325 members has ranked as the largest.

Mid-term graduation exercises were inaugurated in January, 1928 and since have continued yearly. Each January the seniors have increased and each June, as well, has seen that group growing.

"Tomorrow night Senior high will set a new record," commented Principal F. I. Orth. "The 361 figure will stand as the largest group ever to receive diplomas at one time."

Recommendation Of Assessor Approved

Valuation Of Euwer Land, Neshannock Avenue, Cut Down

Council convened as a board of tax revision in city hall today and approved the recommendation of Assessor Cartwright cutting the tax assessment on the ground occupied by the Euwer block in Neshannock avenue. Heretofore the land has been assessed at $120.00 a foot front. The board cut the valuation to $110.00 a foot front.

The assessor explained that beginning with the Johnson land the valuation was $130.00 a foot front and the Turner property next to Johnson's was valued at $120.00 a foot front. The Euwer land had also been set at that figure. The assessor recommended it be stepped down $10 a foot front which was done.

Council also exempted from taxation this year several aged persons and also persons who are crippled. Assessments on several properties which have been removed and excavations filled and levelled were also cut off.
